

SPARKS' PERSPECTIVE

Ron Sparks
Commissioner

The Southeast United States has had another year of damaging hurricanes in 2005. With over $700 million in agricultural damages throughout Alabama, we are still recovering from Katrina, Rita, and Wilma. I hope that this holiday season you are able to find the blessings that can come during times of hardship.

Many evacuees have made Alabama their home over the past months and it has been a great opportunity for us to show our caring and generosity. In September, the Department of Agriculture and Industries held a concert with recently inducted members of the Country Music Hall of Fame, Alabama, to raise money for hurricane relief. The concert raised over $120,000 and the funds have been distributed to help those in the agricultural industry and evacuees.

While we sometimes get "charity fatigued," it is important to remember during the upcoming holidays that there are still families displaced, businesses destroyed, and farmers in need. As you share the holidays with your family, I hope you will say a prayer for those folks who continue to struggle with their circumstances and possibly even lend them a hand. (continued on page 7)

Increased Biosecurity is the Biggest Protection Against A.I.

The following are some suggestions/tips as to how to protect yourself and your flock against Avian Influenza (A.I.) by practicing increased biosecurity.

- Protect poultry flocks from coming into contact with wild or migratory birds. Keep poultry away from any source of water that may have been contaminated by wild birds.
- Thoroughly clean and disinfect all crates, equipment and vehicles entering and leaving the farm.
- Use plastic instead of wooden crates for easier cleaning.
- Avoid visiting other poultry farms. If you do visit another farm or live-bird market, change footwear and clothing before working with your own flock.
- Keep farm area clean of manure, feathers and other debris.
- Keep incoming poultry separate from all existing birds, especially if birds are from different lots.
- Separate different breeds of poultry into different pens on the farm.

If you have any questions, please contact the Poultry Unit at the Department of Agriculture and Industries at 334/240-7255 ext. 2.

Over $25 Million in Ag Exports to Cuba Secured

Rep. James Thomas, Sen. Quinton Ross, Sen. E.B. McLain, Rep. Mike Millican, Rep. Jack Page, and Sen. Bobby Singleton observe Commissioner Sparks and Alimport Chairman Alvarez sign the trade agreement that resulted in over $25 million in contracts at Expo Cuba in November.

Last month Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries Ron Sparks announced over $25 million in trade deals between Alabama businesses and Cuba's import company Alimport. The agreements are the result of the continuous trade negotiations between Alabama suppliers and Cuban officials. State agricultural officials and business representatives made up Alabama's delegation who, along with four other states, participated in the 23rd Havana International Fair that included products from over 100 countries. Alabama contracts included poultry and poultry products as well as wooden utility poles.

"This trade fair turned out to be a big success for Alabama's farmers," said Commissioner Sparks. "Our poultry and timber industry have done an especially remarkable job. The Department of Agriculture and Industries will continue to help support all of our agricultural growers and producers increase their exports to Cuba and around the world."

These commodity contracts represent sales from Alabama companies. Most all of Alabama's poultry integrators send products to Cuba. Present at this recent fair were representatives from Goldkist, PECO Foods, Sylvest Farms, Pilgrims Pride and Wayne Farms. Utility poles are being sourced from several southwest Alabama manufacturers. Northern Gulf Trading Group, first time trade fair participants from Mobile, had contracts signed for sales of wooden utility poles. Significant quantities of both poles and poultry are shipped from the Alabama State Port Authority in Mobile on a monthly basis.

The United States is the only country to restrict exports to Cuba. In 2001, the US federal government lifted the ban on sales of food and medicine. Since then, the Alabama

We are proud of all that we have been able to accomplish in 2005. From international trade to food safety, we have worked hard to protect and serve consumers, farmers and industry in Alabama.

Our agricultural exports have increased tremendously over the last year. Trade with Cuba alone has an estimated impact to Alabama of $300 million. We have also explored increasing trade in Europe, Africa and Central and South American countries. Next year we will focus on trade with India. India appears to have great potential for Alabama food products. The department will join Alabama companies in promoting and selling our quality products to this nation of over one and a half billion people.

After many years of research, we are finally making some strides with production of alternative fuels. Last summer, the Moundville Biodiesel Plant started up and began producing fuel. We will continue to work with chicken farmers and researchers to find inexpensive means to convert litter to fuel.

We have enhanced our emergency response plans this year, and have hired Dr. Brad Fields, a veterinarian, to coordinate our emergency response programs, and develop our State Agriculture Response Teams.

AG EXPORTS TO CUBA

Department of Agriculture and Industries has worked tirelessly to increase the amount of Alabama products sold to the island nation. Having less than two days shipping time from the Port of Mobile, Alabama has greatly benefited from its prime location, our quality products, and our open dialogue with Cuban buyers.

Last year Alabama saw an economic impact from trade with Cuba of over 300 million dollars. Poultry exports from Alabama have risen 328%, with an estimated 40% of all poultry sold to Cuba being sourced from Alabama. Utility

The stop sale on Vietnamese fish was a huge undertaking, but it was important and necessary to keep illegal antibiotics out of our food supply. Due to the stop sale, over 200,000 pounds of mislabeled or contaminated products were removed from the marketplace. The department will continue to monitor food imported into Alabama and enforce laws that protect consumers from mislabeling, contamination, and illegal antibiotics.

We have also tried to improve the health of our children through better nutrition. Not only have we continued our Farm to School and A+ programs, I served as Chairman of the Nutrition Sub-committee of the Statewide Committee to Review the State of Health of America's Youth with Particular Emphasis on Alabama's Youth. I had the opportunity to work with experts in health and education and together we came up with recommendations to help improve our children's health through their schools.

On behalf of all the employees at the Department of Agriculture and Industries, I want to wish everyone a happy holiday season. We hope that you and your families stay safe, especially our service men and women overseas. Please know that you all are in our thoughts and prayers as we enter the New Year.

poles imported by Cuba over the last two years have almost exclusively been sourced from Alabama. This year, due to increasing restrictions imposed by the US federal government, which makes exporting to Cuba somewhat more difficult, Alabama companies must continue an aggressive sales profile to further expand sales to this market of 11 million people.

The Alabama Department of Agriculture and Industries is also involved in trade explorations in Europe, Canada, Central and South America, Asia, the Caribbean, Africa and will focus on India for the upcoming year.

Upcoming Ag Events

Product Spotlight

This month we are highlighting Whitfield Foods...the producers of Alaga Syrup, a delicious southern tradition based in Montgomery, Alabama. Founded in 1906 as an original Alabama/Georgia company, Whitfield Foods has since provided enjoyment to Alabamians young and old, due to the timeless flavor of its syrup. Alaga Syrup can be enjoyed on a wide array of foods including pancakes, a warm buttered biscuit or in grandma's homemade pecan pie.

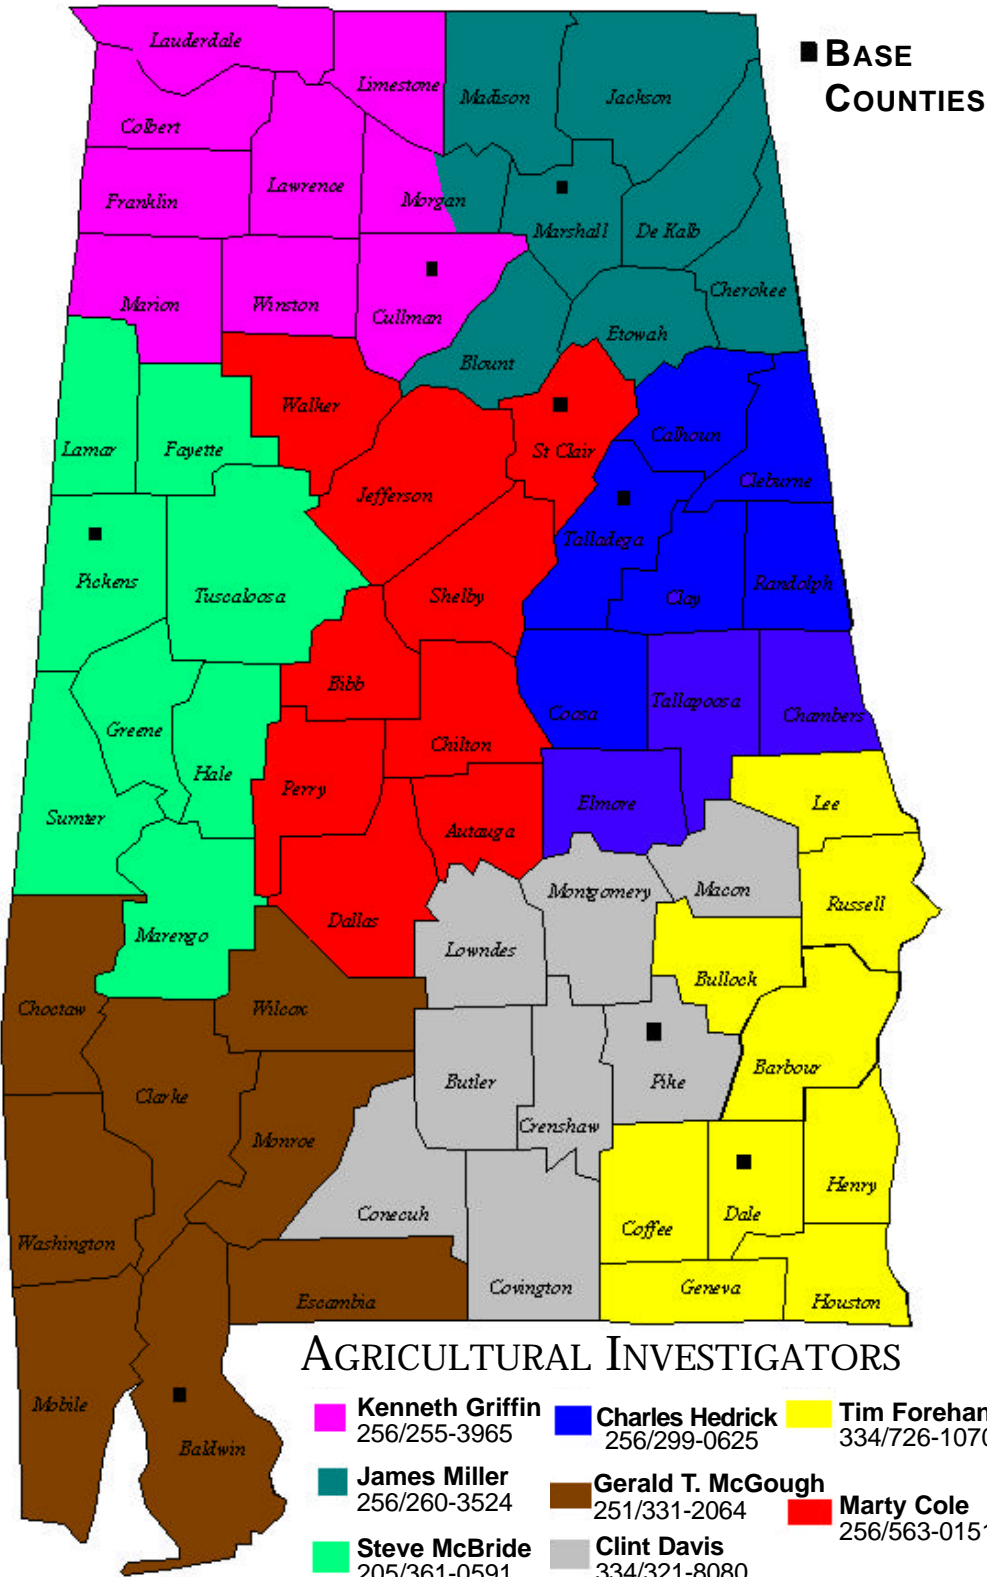

Through out the years, Alaga brand syrup has had an array of celebrity spokespersons including Mr. Whitfield's family friend Clark Gable, Johnny Mack Brown and even Alabama's own Hank Aaron. Other impressive stars who have represented Alaga's high quality products to millions of Americans included Willie Mays and Nat King Cole.

Today, Whitfield Foods continues to provide its customers with superior Alaga, Yellow Label and Plow boy brand syrups. In addition to syrups, Alaga hot sauce is also available. This product is developed from the classic Louisiana tradition but is given a unique Alabama twist by including homegrown cane syrup to give it exceptional flavor. Alaga hot sauce can be used to add a tasty kick to any food including wings and casseroles.

Whitfield's products, such as Alaga brand syrups and hot sauce, can be found at any major grocer in Alabama, as well as throughout the Southeast. The simple addition of Alaga products to a meal can cause it to go from good to extraordinary! From a leisurely home cooked breakfast to your grandmother's pecan pie, you will be glad you tried Alaga Syrup! If you are searching for something great to cook this holiday season, visit our website at www.agi.alabama.gov and look for a link to Alaga's 100 years of recipes to find several outstanding dishes.

While you are on the Department of Agriculture's web page, take a look at the section titled "An Alabama Holiday Meal." Listed will be many Alabama products you will want to be sure to include in your Holiday preparations.

Thank You

Commissioner Sparks and the employees of the Department of Agriculture and Industries are especially grateful to Frank Wadsworth for the trees he has donated to the department for the past several years. Wadsworth Tree Farm is located in Elmore County off of Highway 231 north of Wetumpka near Wallsboro. For more information, please call 334/567-6308. Thank you Mr. Wadsworth for this expression of your generosity during the holiday season!

2005 Alabama Century and Heritage Farm Recipients

This year twenty farms qualified for the Alabama Century and Heritage Farm program. Each farm has been in operation as a family farm for over 100 years. These farms represent the rich heritage of agriculture in our state. All recipients will receive a certificate signed by the Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries and the Governor, officially designating their farm as an Alabama Century and/or Heritage Farm. Each farm and its designation is listed below by county. Several families received their certificates at county Farm-City banquets last month. If you feel your family farm qualifies for this program make sure to check this publication next summer for an announcement that applications are available for the 2006 program.
